Marjorie Lee went to her bank yesterday. She wanted to get a loan to buy a new car. Mr. Price, the bank officer, looked at her credit report and told her she could not get a low interest rate because she has a poor credit history. Instead, she has to pay a much higher interest rate. Ms. Lee was very upset. She asked the officer what to do to get better credit.

Ms. Lee: Oh no. This is very surprising. I didn't know I had bad credit. How can I improve my credit?

Mr. Price: Improving your credit can take several months. I have three suggestions for you.

First, you should _____.

Ms. Lee: Okay, I can do that.

Mr. Price: Good. Then, you can _____.

Ms. Lee: _____.

Mr. Price: Excellent. Finally, I think you should _____.

Ms. Lee: Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Price: You're welcome.
