
What Should They Do?

Bryan has just graduated from college. He borrowed money to pay for college, and he also used a credit card to pay for all of his expenses while he was studying. He got a good job and wants to pay off his debts quickly, but he's not sure what to do. Help him out.

Maggie owes a lot of money on her credit card, has a car payment, and has some medical bills to pay. She has missed some monthly payments and a debt collector has been calling her. What should she do?

Andrea and Victor want to pay off their credit cards. They have tried to pay as much as possible every month but they haven't been able to get out of debt. They have decided to visit a credit counselor for help. What do they need to know before they go?