

The Federal Trade Commission invites you to a Media and Community Stakeholder Roundtable

Spotting and Avoiding Scams Targeting Diverse Communities in Indianapolis + Indiana

WHEN :

June 25, 2020, 11:00 am EDT

HOW :

Click HERE for Zoom link / Meeting ID: 823 6360 1808

Find your number

WHO :

- Todd Kossow Director, Midwest Region, Federal Trade Commission
- Andrew Johnson Consumer Education Chief of Staff, Federal Trade Commission
- Betsy DeNardi Director, Consumer Protection Division, Indiana Attorney General's Office
- Cheryl Koch-Martinez Lawyer and Consumer Advocacy Project Director, Indiana Legal Services

WHY :

Every year, scammers steal hundreds of millions of dollars from people, selling fake services and worthless products – everything from jobs, education, and debt collection to housing and health. Scammers pretending to be the government threaten people with jail if they don't pay nonexistent fines or fees. Our briefing will bring together public officials, legal aid providers, community advocates, and those who've experienced fraud to talk with local reporters about how to better inform people and help them protect themselves from scams.

RSVP :

Sandy Close sclose@ethnicmediaservices.org

Anthony Advincula aadvincula@ethnicmediaservices.org

